The Business Gateway to Serbia 2006
Issued by The Association of the Mediterranean Chambers of Commerce and Industry (ASCAME).

Dear Ladies and Gentlemen,

It is my pleasure to announce the publication "The Business Gateway to Serbia 2006" issued by The Association of the Mediterranean Chambers of Commerce and Industry (ASCAME).

It could be said that publications like this one are of strategic importance - not only that they are promoting businesses, trade and investment, but they are also promoting cooperation among nations and establishing contacts that many times upgrade to the level of political relations.

The speed of reforms we have undertaken is enormous. Macroeconomic, institutional, structural and legal reforms that have been introduced have significantly contributed to the affirmative assessments of Serbian progress. For instance, the World Bank in their publication «Doing Business 2006» has ranked Serbia 1st out of 155 countries in improving investment conditions for their operations in Serbia but we are offering additional incentives to be attractive location for foreign investors in the terms they require.

We look forward to seeing you in Serbia!

The economic performance of our country is closely related to its economic policies. It has also been very transparent and detailed in explaining the essentials of these economic policies. Hence, predictability, confidence and stability which is created by a strong political will. My Government has been committed to the implementation of its policies and continuity in macro-economic policies are the key to produce better macro-economic results. Behind this success rests an atmosphere of 'confidence' and 'stability' which is created by a strong political will. My Government has focused on the following policies:

A Letter From Mr. George Alogoskoufis
Minister of Economy & Finance of Greek

The rapid global economic growth and the accelerating pace of the international and domestic economy has resulted in the acceleration of structural reforms and technical and behavioral changes in the economy. These changes are evident in the performance of our economy, which has shown significant growth over the past few years. These changes have been facilitated by our commitment to structural reforms, which have helped to improve the efficiency and competitiveness of our economy.

Our recent performance suggests that as long as the public sector keeps its house in order, private sector is ready and has the potential to take the lead both in Turkey and all around the globe. Turkey’s recent strong macro-economic performance has been a reflection of our country’s strong economic policies. Our major effort are aimed at increasing the production capacity and export of Turkey, and expanding the sustainable development and social security, energy and telecommunication have been successfully carried out by my Government. Emphasis on structural reform efforts. Starting from the financial sector, and with the accelerated privatization process, sweeping reforms have been implemented.
